TruePoint Innovation in Management (IM TruePoint) welcomes Ole Salkvist as Associate Director

Effective March 1st Ole Salkvist has agreed to join IM TruePoint as Associate Director. Ole joins after +17 years in Vestas and comes from a leadership position, where he was heading up the Procurement Excellence & Sustainability department.

He comes with extensive experience within leadership and people development, strategy development and execution, negotiation, business partnerships, commercial excellence, supplier relationship & key account management, value chain optimization, sustainability, organisational design and capability building.

He is known as a true collaborator, able to think ahead and act holistically, and bring people and minds together to create sustainable solutions and positive changes.

IMTP partner Morten Lindholst shares, “Reflecting on Ole's impact on the Commercial and leadership Development journey during our tenure at Vestas makes me proud. Ole's ability to bring different perspectives, connect the dots, and build trust at all levels of organizations will be a huge asset to IMTP and our clients. Personally, I have fun working with Ole, and his constant feedback and curiosity make me learn and perform better. It's no surprise that I can't stop smiling. Welcome, Ole. I missed collaborating with you.”

Ole lives in Aarhus, Denmark, with his wife and 3 kids and his main hobby includes trail running.

“Life is too long for short term fixes. I'm therefore very thankful for the opportunity to be part of IM True Point as we share the belief that leaders who take a whole-system-focus and manage to integrate both economic and social value will prosper in the long run. Furthermore, I'm deeply impressed about the way IM Truepoint connect world renowned academics with decades of practical experience to create value for their many customers. Becoming part of this is extremely exciting and I really look forward to work closely with the bright minds and very positive personalities as well as to serve the many customers - existing as well as new.”- Ole
